Dear Mr. Gilliams,

I have learned that you have filed a new action against Universal Music Group and Cash Money Records and that you have served Universal Music Group with the Summons. As Universal only recently received notice of your service on CT Corp, Universal would like a 30-day extension of time to respond to your Complaint. If you consent, we will prepare a stipulation to file with the Court. I would greatly appreciate hearing from you today, if possible.

Thank you,

Dear Vernon Brown,

I am digitally serving Dwayne Carter and Cash Money Records, I believe both are current clients of yours about a claim to royalties being received by their company. I wanted to make sure they knew of the Writ of Summons

Sincerely,

Dirahn Gilliams

Dear Jonathan D. Davis,

I wanted to inquire about getting in touch with serving Dwayne Carter a current client of yours and a publisher listed Warner-Tamerlane Publishing about a claim to royalties being received by their company. I wanted to make sure they knew of the Writ of Summons ASAP through his current attorney?

Sincerely,

Dirahn Gilliams

OUR TEAM

Gregory Frankel
Managing Partner

Read More

Gregory Frankel entered the music business in 2004 when he started an entertainment company with recorded music, publishing and management arms in his hometown of Miami, FL. He co-founded a full service talent management company MADE and his law firm The Frankel Firm, PLLC in 2007. Running the business and administrative affairs of the company and its clients over an eight-year span, he oversaw two label imprints at Universal and three publishing companies. In 2015, Gregory spun off his current boutique business management firm BASE where he now serves as Managing Partner. BASE capitalizes on his experience as an attorney, and as a label, management and publishing company owner and executive, to provide a high-level of expertise to entertainment and creative clients in the U.S. and abroad. A Stone Scholar graduate of Columbia Law School, he continues to practice entertainment and corporate law as well.

Dayanis Overton
Finance Director
